Lima Fire Takes Seventh Victim

LIMA, May 17.—Just six days ago four small children of the Harry Cavanaugh family died in their home here.

The next day, Monday, the last remaining child died in a hospital along with a neighbor boy who had been visiting in the home.

Early Saturday, the father, Harry Cavanaugh, 54, died in St. Rita's Hospital of severe burns suffered when he tried to save the children. Mrs. Cavanaugh, 28, collapsed when told she was the last survivor of the once-large and happy family.

Autoist Killed

SPRINGFIELD, May 17.—An automobile and truck collided on U. S. Route 68 north of Urbana Friday, killing James F. Johnson, 37, of Russell's Point, driver of the car.

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

This has been an usual spring for maple tree seed. Tons of them have fallen within the city during the past two or three weeks, and will continue to fall for a short time.

They have clogged down spouts and other drains, and almost choked small sewers.

Most of these seeds are so formed that as they fall they whirl around and if a breeze is blowing, they are carried some distance from the tree.

I have often noticed the various ways nature has provided for distributing seed, and to equip some of them with wings to carry them some distance, is little short of marvelous.

For instance, the linden or basswood tree seeds have a double "propeller" so that the clusters of them may be carried 100 yards by a stiff breeze and start new trees.

The dandelion, thistle, and milkweed are samples of how plant seed are equipped with wings and are carried for long distances.

Not only do many seeds have wings, but wind carries others far from their origin. Birds and animals also are great carriers of seed.

Squirrels carry acorns and other nuts for some distance to bury for a food supply, then forget where they plant some of the nuts.

Animals may carry the seed of plants for miles, when the tiny hooks on the seed attach to the hair or fur. Cockle burs and burdock are examples of such seed.

Seeds embedded in mud may be carried on the wheels of vehicles, and feet of men and beasts, for many miles.

These are just a few of the ways in which seeds of trees and plants are distributed.

There is a little book on "seed distribution" which is intensely interesting and very informative.

Junior-Senior Prom At WHS Is Gala Event

Another big night in the life of the senior class of 1952 of Washington C. H. High School is a memory, a dance program and a coronation.

Friday evening the members of the junior class honored the graduating class at the Junior-Senior Prom in the Washington C. H. High School gym.

The junior class transformed the gym into a spring garden complete with a fish pond and fish for the gala affair. Music was furnished by Hugh Monker and his Stardusters Orchestra.

Highlight of the evening was the crowning of the king and queen of the prom.

Many of the members of both classes who didn't attend the dance stopped by to await the announcement of the king and queen chosen by the members of the junior class earlier in the day.

Jon Pensyl, acting as master of ceremonies, announced Dorothy Pennington as the queen and Allen Grillo as king.

THE COUPLE walked through the rose covered garden gate across the garden and to the throne where Jon conducted the crowning of King Allen, who in turn placed the crown on Queen Dorothy's head.

The royal couple then led the grand march around the floor with the members of both classes joining in the procession. Thomas Mansell, faculty member, played the music for the march.

Miss Carolyn Talbot and Frank

Dudley, the two junior class sponsors, were presented gifts by the class during the early part of the evening.

During the intermission members of the junior class entertained the seniors with a short variety program.

Nancy James and Kemp Allemand danced a soft shoe number to the musical number, "At Sundown." They followed this with a waltz clog, "The Sidewalks of New York."

Elaine Evans sang a solo, "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes," and Jim Anderson played two numbers on his accordion, "Bye-Bye Blues" and "Boogie Woogie Swing."

The program ended with a trio, composed of Shirley Hickman, Shirley Vincent and Elaine Evans, singing, "In The Still of The Night," and "In The Still of The Night."

THERE WAS PUNCH and cookies for the dancers during the evening. Esther Marting was chairman of the food committee. She was assisted by Eddie Korn, Jimmy Anderson and Shirley Cockerill.

The juniors who were in charge of decorating the gym and converting a child's portable wading pond into a garden pool with gold fish were Roberta Theobald and David Crone, co-chairmen. They were assisted by Dinah Davis, Shirley Vincent, Sandy Campbell, Shirley Hickman, Walter Plymale, Dick Waters, Sue Scott and Bob Alkire.

Wage Board Revision Is Seen In House Committee Proposal

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The House Labor Committee is expected to recommend a drastic reorganization of the Wage Stabilization Board and a sharp reduction in its powers as a result of the steel wage dispute.

This was the opinion of some key members of the committee who have been hearing testimony the last two weeks on the board's controversial recommendations in the steel case.

The changes in the WSB the labor group is expected to recommend follow closely those voted this week by the Senate Banking Committee:

1. Make all members of the board representatives of the public. The present board consists of six members each for labor, industry and the public.

2. Make appointment of board members subject to Senate confirmation. Present board appointments are not.

3. Eliminate the board's authority to intervene in labor-management disputes, especially non-economic disputes like the union shop, and limit it to wage stabilization functions.

WSB's recommendation of a union shop for the steel industry—under which all its workers would have to join the steel union—has been criticized by industry and by some members of Congress.

The labor committee also was expected to recommend that the WSB be confined to fact-finding duties. The board now recommends terms for settling labor-management disputes.

Meanwhile, the House Judiciary Committee considered a specific ban on government seizure of the steel mills proposed in a bill to extend some 60 emergency powers of the President.

Chairman Feighan (D-Ohio) said the subcommittee he heads expects to decide the steel seizure proposal at a meeting Monday and send the bill to the full committee for action Tuesday.

Feighan said he doubted if the seizure ban would be approved by the subcommittee.

McCarthy Probers Study Whether To Expand Hearings

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Sen. Gillette (D-Iowa) said Saturday he will ask his rules subcommittee to decide quickly on its next step in an investigation of a move by Sen. Benton (D-Conn) to oust Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) from the Senate.

The subcommittee tentatively wound up public hearings Friday on one phase of Benton's resolution calling for the inquiry.

This was the Connecticut lawmaker's charge that McCarthy violated senatorial ethics by accepting $10,000 from the Lustron Corp. in 1948 for an article on housing. The firm, now defunct, used the article in an advertising pamphlet.

Gillette's group has not yet decided whether to hold similar public hearings on Benton's accusations alleging that McCarthy, in charging Communist infiltration of the government, committed fraud, perjury and calculated deceit of the American people.

MCCARTHY, contending the subcommittee was helping both the Communist Party and Benton "smear McCarthy out of office" rejected invitations to take part in the hearings.

Still pending before the full rules committee, which Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz) heads, is a resolution by McCarthy demanding an investigation of Benton. McCarthy also has filed a $2 million libel-slander suit against Benton in federal court here.

Gillette said he will call his subcommittee to a closed-door meeting "just as soon as possible, perhaps Monday, to decide our next step."

He said that could be a decision to (1) reopen the hearing on the housing article; or (2) hold public hearings on one or more of Benton's other specific points. He declined to express his own views, and so did most other members.

But Sen. Welker (R-Idaho) declared that if the subcommittee criticized McCarthy for selling a housing article, it should criticize all Congress members who accept payment for articles, books or speeches.

The subcommittee staged five days of public hearings on circumstances surrounding the sale of McCarthy's article to Lustron, which was heavily in debt to the government when it made the purchase.

Kefauver, Ike Hold Lead In Oregon Poll

Both Men Appear To Be Big Winners In Popularity Tests

PORTLAND, Ore., May 17.—Sen. Estes Kefauver recaptured the lead for Democratic presidential-nominating delegate strength as he and Republican Gen. Dwight Eisenhower coasted to popular victory in Oregon.

Slow mounting returns from the Oregon presidential preference vote Friday gave Kefauver 32,955 and Eisenhower 45,351 in 970 of 2,269 precincts.

The Tennessee senator was virtually unopposed in the Democratic race. The big vote of confidence gave him Oregon's 12 delegates who are bound by it.

Kefauver's nationwide delegate support, as tabulated by the Associated Press, now totals 101½ compared with 92 for W. Averell Harriman of New York, mutual security director. A total of 267½ are uncommitted and the rest spread among 14 other names. Nomination at the July 21 national convention requires 616.

HARRIMAN took over the lead briefly Friday because of a shift mirrored in a new survey of Pennsylvania's 70-vote delegation. This took 20 delegates away from Kefauver and listed them as uncommitted. They gave various reasons for changing their minds.

The Pennsylvania change put Harriman, who had led earlier, up front again with 92 to Kefauver's 89½. Harriman was not entered in Oregon and so picked up nothing there while Kefauver added 12.

It was uncertain whether Eisenhower would get all 18 or only 10 of Oregon's 18 Republican delegates. It depended on how eight unpledged delegate-candidates run.

Oregon's GOP delegation is uncommitted. However, all but the eight supposedly for Taft, who refused to enter the popularity race had agreed to support the preferential choice.

Another GOP candidate, Gov. Earl Warren of California was running way behind Eisenhower in second position and issued congratulations to the general on his "tremendous vote."

In neighboring Washington, a state convention in Spokane was being pressured to elect Kefauver men as the state's 22 delegates.

In Montpelier, Vt., Eisenhower backers were predicting they will capture all 12 of Vermont's GOP delegates being named there.

TAFT PICKED up eight more delegates in North Dakota Friday when a convention at Bismarck put together a 14-vote uncommitted delegation. An Associated Press survey showed eight of the 14 favored Taft, four were uncommitted, one was for Eisenhower and another "might be" for the general.

The North Dakota result makes Taft lead Eisenhower 374 to 306, with 156 delegates uncommitted or in dispute. The remainder: Former Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota 23, Warren 6 and Gen. Douglas MacArthur 2. Nomination requires 604.

Eisenhower backers were after Hawaii's eight GOP votes at a two-day convention opening Saturday in Honolulu.

Gen. MacArthur's indirect criticism of Eisenhower's candidacy, meanwhile, drew statements from Harriman and Elder Statesman Bernard Baruch. In New York Harriman and Baruch were asked to comment on MacArthur's expressed fears that the campaign threatened America with a military state. MacArthur has disclaimed any presidential ambitions.

Baruch said: "Nothing in this country should make a man a second class citizen."

Harriman was stronger: "I agree that Gen. MacArthur is unequalled." But he added that, although he likes Eisenhower, he disapproves of his GOP affiliation.

Allies To Shun More Dickering

Western Spokesman Says Final Offer Made On Korea Armistice

MUNSAN, May 17.—United Nations truce negotiators told the Reds Saturday the Allies have made their "final negotiatory effort" and suggested the Reds re-evaluate their behavior in the "tragic situation you are creating."

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, senior Allied delegate, bluntly declared in the 50-minute session at Panmunjom:

"We have made our final negotiatory effort in the interest of an early armistice, we will not consider further concessions or counter-proposals."

The issue of how to exchange prisoners of war blocks an armistice.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il declared the Reds will never agree to the Allied over-all proposal of April 28. It calls for return of only those Communist prisoners who are willing to go back to Communist-held territory.

Fewer than half the 169,000 captured Reds and internees have expressed willingness to go back. Allied screening of prisoners showed this fact.

AT COMMUNIST insistence, the armistice negotiators will meet again tomorrow at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Saturday EST).

Joy reviewed the Allied offer of April 28. In it the Allies offered to withdraw their objections to rehabilitation of Red airfields if the Reds withdraw the nomination of Soviet Russia as a neutral observer during an armistice and insisted on voluntary repatriation of prisoners.

Joy told newsmen he made the review "in order that there might be no misunderstanding."

Meanwhile, an Allied patrol, using bayonets and small arms fire, stormed a Red-held hill on the Western Korean front, killing 27 Communists and wounding 13. The pre-dawn fight took place northwest of the Panmunjom truce site, an Eighth Army communique said. Both sides rushed in reinforcements during the scrap which broke off at 4:40 a. m.

Artillery added the attack by knocking out two Red mortar positions.

For the fourth straight morning, a UN tank-infantry patrol raided Communist lines on the central front in the Kumhwa area. The Eighth Army said tank fire knocked out snipers and a machinegun.

ALLIED patrols on the eastern front fought brief engagements with Red patrols in the early morning hours.

Allied land and carrier-based planes Friday continued their relentless attack on Red supply lines in North Korea.

In Tokyo, the Far East Air Force announced that Lt. Gen. Frank F. Everest, commander of the Fifth Air Force, will be relieved May 19 by Brig. Gen. Glenn O. Barcus, now deputy commander of the Tactical Air Command in the United States.

THE Fifth Air Force announced that the Allies lost 14 planes in combat the last week. One U. S. Sabrejet was knocked out in an air fight. Eleven UN planes were shot down by ground fire. Two more were lost to unknown causes.

During the same period, the Fifth added, Allied jets destroyed eight Red planes, probably destroyed two others and damaged eight.

Gen. Mark Clark reported that

Tougher Lawyer Code Is Urged

CLEVELAND, May 17.—The retiring president of the Ohio Bar Association wants tougher treatment for lawyers who "deliberately make a racket" of their profession.

Ben C. Boer of Cleveland suggested at the state bar association convention Friday that the president and past presidents of the Ohio Bar Association should constitute a commission to review cases involving professional ethics. The commission would have exclusive jurisdiction, subject only to review by the Ohio Supreme Court to try all those against whom charges are filed.

Crash Kills GI

COLUMBUS, May 17.—Sgt. Julian P. Holt, 28, of Canal Winchester, was killed Friday night when his car crashed through a guard rail and went over an embankment near here.

The U. S. 187th Airborne Infantry Regiment has moved from Japan to Koje Island to reinforce the UN guard over tough Red prisoners of war there and prevent "mass outbreaks which inevitably would result in additional violence and bloodshed."

The new UN supreme commander said he ordered the reinforcements to Koje "to insure the complete control of UN POW Camp No. 1 at Koje by the UN authorities."

Spending Curb Being Urged

Taft-Ferguson Bill Detailed To Senate

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Sens. Taft (R-Ohio) and Ferguson (R-Mich) have proposed a constitutional amendment to hold federal spending to about $55 billion a year.

This would be some $30 billion less than President Truman's budget requests for the 1953 fiscal year starting July 1.

Taft, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, and Ferguson introduced a resolution Friday proposing a constitutional amendment to curb the power of Congress to appropriate money and to hike the public debt.

It would prohibit the lawmakers from authorizing expenditures in excess of five per cent of the estimated national income, except for military spending and interest payments on the federal debt.

MILITARY spending would have to be defined by law, and could include outlays only for raising, paying and equipping the nation's armed forces, and providing military equipment for U. S. allies in time of war or to fulfill a treaty.

Another part of the proposed amendment would bar Congress from raising the public debt except by a two-thirds vote of both houses and then only to offset the difference between estimated revenues and actual tax receipts in a fiscal year or to meet the needs of war or other emergency.

In outlining the proposal to the Senate, Taft said:

"We are convinced that we cannot maintain a free economy in the United States if we spend more than approximately 25 per cent of the national income on government of all kinds."

Ohio Governor Inspects 37th Division Men

CAMP POLK, May 17.—The 37th Infantry Division, composed mainly of ex-Ohio National Guardsmen, paraded in review before Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio Saturday—Armed Forces Day.

The 37th Division Band led the units past the reviewing stand. They included the 112th Medical Battalion from Columbus, Westerville and Ottawa; the field artillery battalions (130th from Southwest Ohio and 140th from Northwest Ohio), 147th Infantry Regiment, the 145th and the 184th.

The governor arrived in camp Friday. A 19-gun salute greeted him. He was accompanied by Mrs. Jane Lausche, Maj. Gen. Albert Henderson, adjutant general of Ohio, and nine Ohio newspapermen.

Immediately after his arrival the governor inspected the division's honor guard. During the inspection he paused many times to shake hands with men making up the Guard.

Later he visited nine division units in training in the field. He was accompanied by Maj. Gen. Leo Kreber, who commands the 37th, and Maj. Gen. R. B. Woodruff, XV Corps and Camp Polk commanding general.

He Is Only 100

CINCINNATI, May 17.—Dr. Philip Zenner, pioneer Cincinnati neurologist, observed his 100th birthday Saturday. There was no celebration and Dr. Zenner said, "why make a fuss over it? When I get to be 120, that's time to celebrate."

Rural Groups Plan Action

Rural Life Sunday To Be Observed

A number of rural groups in Fayette County will join others in all parts of the United States in observing "Rural Life Sunday," on May 18.

John T. Mount, assistant 4-H club leader at Ohio State University, in urging the observance throughout Ohio.

Groups of both youth and adults will go to church as groups and will take part in special ceremonies, Mount said. Future Farmers of America, 4-H Clubs, Farm Bureaus and Granges are some of the groups that will participate in special services.

Rural Life Sunday is a day to re-emphasize the meaning of Christianity for rural life; to invoke God's blessing upon seeds, fruits and tillers of the soil, and to think about spiritual values of rural life.

J. P. Schmidt, rural sociologist, said Rural Life Sunday "is closely linked with Rogation Days, celebrated for centuries by Christians." Rogation Days first were observed by St. Mamertus, Bishop of Vienna, in Gaul, sometime before A. D. 475. Schmidt added, however, that even in Egypt's earliest days, "the ceremony of blessing the land and the seed at the time of planting was observed."

First observed in the United States in 1929, Rural Life Sunday's official date this year is May 18. Various churches and groups, however, had special services late in April and will continue them until late in May.

About 200 Greene County club members will attend the Mt. Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church in Beaver Creek Township in a body on May 18. Mount, who will address the special service, said boys and girls also will participate.

Robert Worrall, associate agent in Franklin County, said 4-H members in Edwards and Brice communities will attend Asbury Methodist Church in a body as they have for five years. Mount pointed out that the services are typical of those that will be held in almost every Ohio county.

Little Corn Planted Here During Week

Comparatively little corn was planted in most of the county the past week, due to the series of rains the first of the week, and the accompanying cold weather.

If weather permits next week will see most of the corn planted in the community.

Delay in planting will be beneficial as far as greater safety from corn borers is concerned.

Effective Work On The Spittlebugs

It was quite a shock to so many millions of spittlebugs in Fayette County, who were doused with a spray by airplane and ground spraying equipment.

Examination of many of the fields where the spraying was done disclosed that the bugs had been killed, as well as their eggs destroyed.

Work on an even larger scale is being planned for next year.

Major construction work on the Great Wall of China was started after 228 B. C.

MODERN DRAIN TILING

"We don't tile fields like we did a generation ago," William Beltz, owner and operator of the Mowrystown Brick and Tile Company at Mowrystown, Ohio, recently pointed out. "We used to do most tiling in the spring of the year, and grade by the water running in the ditch," he continued, "but now we run the levels with instruments and we dig the ditches by machinery when the ground is dry."

Mr. Beltz says that most farmers who tile fields with very little slope don't put the tile down deep enough. He recommends using 3 to 4 inch tile in level land and putting it down three to four feet. When you do this the tile will often pay for itself the first year, he says, in increased crop yields.

If you have some level land that doesn't drain well, have a surveyor run the levels for you and a skilled man lay the tile, and you will be doing a wise thing that will greatly increase your crop yields and enable you to lower your production costs.

"OSTERIZER"

Did you ever see an "osterizer?" It's a machine for pulverizing and emulsifying most foods for the family; even vegetables like carrots and celery can be made into a liquid that you can drink, if you add some water to it. This machine is made by the Johnson Manufacturing Company of Racine, Wis.

ELECTRIC HOT BED

Clark Ogden, Lynchburg, Ohio, recently showed me his hot bed heated by electricity. "It is very satisfactory and inexpensive," Mr. Ogden says. Since Mr. Ogden retired a few years ago he gardens as a hobby and enjoys it. I'd call him a good gardener, too.

It will pay you to consider using an electric hot bed instead of one that has the heat supplied by horse manure; something rare on many farms, since tractors have replaced so many horses. The heating unit doesn't cost very much and it will last for many years. The electricity consumption is low, too. "A small unit doesn't use much more current than an electric light," Mr. Ogden says.

Lime Important To Yield Boost

Production Down But Population Up

The government through the Department of Agriculture is asking farmers to increase production in 1952 by 6 percent over 1951.

The principal increase is needed in the grain sorghums, but the goals for corn and cotton remain at last year's levels. In some cases such as wheat and potatoes, the same production is desired, but on smaller acreages than were planted in 1951. This would necessitate increased yields per acre.

The department through its grasslands program is attempting to get an increase in the production of high quality forage crops as a means of increasing beef and dairy products.

These production goals are based on increased population as well as the generally higher standards of living of the people. Statistics show that since 1940 while population in this country is increasing at a rate of nearly 2,000,000 a year, the acreage of farm land is decreasing.

SOIL EROSION is one of the principal factors contributing to this reduction. Consequently in order to attain the recommended goals for 1952, and future years, farmers must plan carefully. They must study their individual farm and labor situations.

Machinery which is worn out should be replaced promptly, repair parts should be ordered and all machinery put into good working order.

Certified and adapted seeds should be procured in sufficient quantity to meet this year's requirements. Fertilizer which includes not only mixtures of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash but also calcium and magnesium carbonates in the form of Ag-lime should be ordered. Acceptance of delivery at once will assure having the material on hand when it is needed.

Ag-lime is generally spread directly on the land by the manufacturer, his agent or another distributor. Many farmers have been disappointed in the past because delivery could not be made on specific dates when they desired the material. There just are not enough trucks and equipment to spread all the ag-lime in a short spring period plus another one in the fall.

Warns of Blight On Tomato Plants

Ohio tomato growers were warned today to look out for late blight on tomato plants.

B. F. Janson, extension plant pathologist at Ohio State University, warned growers, "If you plan to get tomato plants from either Georgia or Florida, be sure the grower from whom you buy plants has followed a good spray program for prevention of late blight and that plants are free from all diseases."

He said the disease is present in both states. It has taken the form of black to purplish spots on stems and leaf petioles. Since no lesions have been found on leaves, the disease often has been overlooked.

Four New Forage Crops Now Are Available Here

The Foundation Seed Project, established a few years ago through cooperation between the U. S. Department of Agriculture and State Crop Improvement Association, has made certified seed available in commercial quantities of four improved forages: Ranger, Buffalo and Atlantic alfalfa and Kenland red clover. Their regions of adaptation are shown on the accompanying maps.

Ranger alfalfa is a variegated alfalfa both winterhardy and wilt-resistant. It will survive and remain productive in the Northern States for a much longer time than Grimm or other older varieties. The superiority of Ranger is based on its wilt-resistance and longevity under adverse winter conditions. Certified seed can now be obtained from local seed dealers.

Buffalo alfalfa, like Ranger, is wilt-resistant but is not as winterhardy. It is bred from Kansas Common from which it cannot be distinguished in the field. It makes a more rapid recovery after cutting than Kansas Common, will survive longer on wilt-laden soils, and yields well after other susceptible varieties have disappeared. Its large fall growth and rapid recovery have made it popular. Probably a large part of present needs can be met with the current seed supply.

Atlantic alfalfa is noted for its high yields in areas not infested with bacterial wilt. Its yields in comparison with most other standard varieties over this large area have been outstanding. Certified seed is available commercially but not in quantities sufficient for the area where it is adapted.

Kenland red clover has come to the front in the South and up into the Central States of the Corn Belt. It is resistant to southern anthracnose but not to northern anthracnose. It is a better soil builder than ordinary red clover and gives better yields of both forage and seed in its main area of adaptation. A good supply of certified seed is available.

Extra costs to grower and dealer of handling true seed of improved varieties, especially certified seed, make the selling price to the farmer higher than for ordinary stock. The extra cost of seed, however, is money well spent in the variety's area of adaptation.

There are other superior varieties of forage crops of which the seed is not yet available in more than limited quantities. Among these are Narragansett and Talent alfalfa, Williamette sweet-clover, Rowan lespedeza, Lancaster, Lyon and Homesteader bromegrass and many others. Production of these will have to be increased materially before seed will become generally available.

Fayette Countian Joins Association

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 17.—Fred Morr, 441 Albin Ave., Washington C. H. has been named to membership in the American Hereford Association, the world's largest purebred registry organization with headquarters in Kansas City, Mo.

Two-hundred and six Hereford breeders were placed on the Association's official roster during April to boost the total membership to an all-time high of 20,670. Members represent every state in the nation. In addition to the membership roster, the Association maintains active accounts for approximately 80,000 Hereford breeders.

The Hereford Association last year recorded a new world record of 506,061 purebred calves, an increase of 79,090 over the record established during the previous fiscal year. Hereford calves registered last year were two and half times the total registrations of other major beef breeds combined.

Lad, 13, Drowns

CINCINNATI, May 17.—Firemen recovered the body of 13-year-old Danny Deitz from a duck pond here Thursday, 35 minutes after he slipped and fell in.

Birdfoot trefoil is especially well suited for use in a mixture with grass for pasture. It will withstand overgrazing, but maximum production cannot be expected under such conditions.

Potato Situation and Government Controls

The scores of Washington C. H. families now finding it difficult to supply an important part of their daily food menu because of the potato shortage are wondering what will happen next.

This is one of the reasons more people are beginning to realize that government controls have hindered, rather than helped, their situation.

Last year with an over-abundance of potatoes the government control boys got rid of a big supply by process of waste. They used all kinds of schemes to take them off the market.

Now people are buying seed potatoes to eat. While the demand is high some of the dealers in Washington C. H. say that people are not at frantic over the situation as they were regarding short supplies in war time, but they don't like what they are up against.

We noted that the Lima News recently commented "We could tolerate the potato shortage and the high price of seed potatoes if we could be assured that the busy government planners were learning their lesson."

Apparently this is too much to expect. They keep right on doing things of an upsetting nature and expect the public to like it.

Last year growers were assured of federal support prices on potatoes; they couldn't lose. So they planted plentifully, and the government found thousands of tons of potatoes on its hands. Some were painted blue, others buried, etc., and that made the paying public use unpleasant language.

Public opinion forced the administration to change its tactics. Price supports were amended, and growers became cautious once more. They knew about how many potatoes they could sell, and planted accordingly. Seemingly the law of supply and demand became effective again.

Then suddenly the "control" boys got busy again. The OPS put a price ceiling on potatoes, which discouraged the growers. Why should they gamble by planting an extra acre or two in potatoes on the chance of a shortage, when they couldn't be assured of enough profit to make it a good gamble? They became more cautious.

As a result, we have a potato shortage today... except for seed potatoes. The OPS forgot to put a ceiling on them, so we are eating seed potatoes today at high prices.

Maybe some day we'll learn the law of supply and demand isn't completely out of date.

Probably a lot of problems would solve themselves if the government quit monkeying.

Atomic Advance

This country now has various types of atomic weapons, each designed for a different military purpose. They range from small bombs of a tactical nature for use against troops in the field to huge super-blockbusters. What progress has been made in atomic shells to be fired out of guns has not been revealed.

American atomic experimentation will reach a smashing climax next fall when the greatest explosion ever contrived by man will occur on the Eniwetok proving ground in the Pacific. This monster will have the explosive power of 300,000 to 500,000 tons of TNT compared with the 20,000-ton models dropped on Japan.

Next will come the hydrogen bomb, still hypothetical, which is to have an estimated explosive power of millions of tons of TNT.

Thus science proceeds to marvel after ghastly marvel in the field of potential destruction. Whether it will be necessary to pull the trigger will depend upon what degree of insanity leaders of nations have reached.

Diet and Health Some Heart Ailments From Other Troubles

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

The standard advice to a person with heart disease is to live moderately and take things easy. He is taught that the sensible thing to do is accept his defective heart and learn to live with it.

Certain types of heart disease, however, can be cured and the heart function returned to normal. These are the types in which severe heart symptoms are caused by disorders in other parts of the body. It is very important to recognize and correct these disorders before they weaken the heart too much.

Excess Weight a Burden

One such type of heart trouble is seen in people who are very fleshy and overweight. Their excess weight is a burden that is constantly overworking the heart. Such a person may suffer from high blood pressure and swollen legs. An X-ray of his heart reveals that it is greatly enlarged. Ordinarily, if this person reduces safely and slowly under a doctor's care, he can avoid severe and crippling heart trouble.

Another type of heart disease may come from an anemia, infection, or severe illness that poisons the system. Such disorders can cause excess fatty tissue to accumulate in the heart and weaken it. The way to regain a perfectly normal heart is to treat the anemia or toxic condition early enough and clear it up.

A vitamin shortage is another thing that can damage the heart and blood vessels. A deficiency in vitamin B, for example, sometimes causes heart symptoms that do not respond to treatment for heart disease. When the patient receives the proper vitamins in his food, his heart troubles stop.

Surgical Treatment

Surgery can correct a number of conditions that affect the heart, such as abnormal blood vessels present at birth. Another cause of heart disease, located above the kidney. A tumor of this gland results in very high blood pressure with severe heart strain. Once the tumor is removed, the blood pressure returns to normal. Thus, a form of severe heart disease can be averted by surgery, if treated early enough.

The antibiotic drugs have given us new weapons for clearing up heart infections without leaving the patient with a defective heart. They are so used in curing endocarditis, in which the valves of the heart are damaged. New methods of treatment can thus restore many heart patients to good health and activity.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

B. C.: How should I treat a sty?
Answer: When a sty first forms, the use of cold compresses is sometimes helpful in preventing its development. Later, hot compresses may be necessary to hasten the appearance of pus. If too much pus is formed, drainage may have to be performed by lancing the sty.

Weekly Questions and Answers

By Ray Tucker

Editor's Note—Every Saturday this veteran Washington newspaper correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 6308 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, May 17—"Here are a few questions," writes W. F. I. of Rye, N. Y., "which I do not believe that one person in a million can answer."

"Is the United Nations a separate power or state, which is situated on its own soil, although that soil is Manhattan Island? If not, why do they have their own postage? Do they have special police of their own?"

"Under what laws are the United Nations personnel? We read that, once the United States signs any of the UN conventions, such documents are above our own constitution. Can this be true? I thought the UN had to do only with the prevention of wars."

FUNCTIONS—Answer: Our UN experts at the State Department inform me that it is not a separate power or state in the "super" sense that W. F. I. seems to have in mind. It is an international organization with certain principles to which the member nations subscribe. They may join or abstain, and withdraw at any time.

It has many functions other than the prevention of war, although that is the basic objective. It has a dozen or more commissions which seek to remove the causes of conflict, whether they be economic, social, industrial, racial or what not. These execute a program similar to President Truman's "Point Four" plan of aid to backward and undeveloped countries.

A UN convention does become the law of the land, but only if ratified by the Senate. That applies to all treaties. So far, only a few minor and limited agreements have been approved by the Senate. One of the most important, the Genocide Pact, is buried in committee because of the fear that some of its provisions would override many major state statutes.

IMMUNITY—A UN convention confers certain privileges and immunities on members of foreign delegations and their secretariat. It resembles the diplomatic immunity which foreign agents enjoy at Washington. The Senate has not ratified this pact, but we do extend certain courtesies and consideration to UN personnel.

Unless it were a capital crime, for instance, important UN people would not be arrested. In such cases, Secretary-General Trygve Lie disciplines them. Punishment usually consists of their recall at his request.

The UN's police force consists of guards around the building, and a force which accompanies overseas missions. In practice, they serve as "men of all work"—messengers, couriers, and a 11 job operators—rather than as cops.

For housekeeping purposes, the UN has its own postal service. It is operated under contract by the United States Postoffice Department. Letters sealed with UN stamps may be mailed only at their branch office in New York headquarters.

POSITION—"I have not read to date," writes J. G. H. of Williamsport, N. Y., "where any of the presidential candidates have made a declaration on the foreign war. Do you think the Republican Party, if it elects the next president, will continue the illegal war or call our troops home?"

Answer: I think that the Democratic entries support Truman's position. Senator Taft has said that he objected to the method of our entry—that is, by presidential action rather than by Congressional authorization. Now that we are committed, however, he does not see how we can withdraw.

General Eisenhower has taken no stand. One of his principal promoters, Governor Dewey of New York, says he disagrees with our Far Eastern policy, but he has not made public any specifications. It will be one of the first questions put to "Ike" when he returns home.

Under the circumstances, however, it is difficult to see how any chief executive could pull out of Korea without an iron-clad agreement against resumption of hostilities with North Korean, Chinese and Russian communists.

LOSS—"What have we gained," inquires T. F. of Springfield Mass., "from our ten months of truce talks in Korea? Even if we do negotiate a cease-fire agreement with them, what will be the result on that conflict or on the cold war?"

Answer: We have gained exactly nothing. In fact, the negotiations have been a complete loss to our side. We had the enemy on the ropes when Moscow first suggested an armistice. We had stopped the Reds' first aggressive thrust. The "commies" needed a respite.

They have had time to increase and train a new army of 1,000,000 men. They have brought in heavy artillery, planes and tanks. They have built a strong defense line across the peninsula. It is true that we have also strengthened our forces. But driving the foe out of Korea and reuniting the Island now is a military impossibility without a global war.

TRAGIC—Meanwhile, they have pinned down a powerful land, air and naval force that we could better use in Europe or for possible home defense. It is tragic that so much of our strength should be isolated on such a barren and remote peninsula. Yet there is no alternative, unless we are willing to give Moscow this foothold for a possible attack on Japan.

Rebellion of Full Moon

NEW YORK—The nationwide rash of raids by college boys on coed dormitories strikes a cheerful zany note in a mad and angry world.

Others may cavil at these antics, but they restore my faith in youth and higher education. They show that the young of our land still have the quality of mild rebellion under the influence of spring and a full moon.

Most of these mass raids have been in quest of coed bras and vannies, and some of the blue-nosed gentry will surely see this as a new sign of moral decadence and ask suspiciously:

"What do the boys want with those things anyway?"

The answer to this is simple and practical. Soaked in cold water and tied around a throbbing head, these garments will help many a fellow bone up for his final exams. They beat a towel all hollow.

There is historical precedent for this. In the day of chivalry the knight always rode off to battle carrying a token—usually a glove—from his lady fair. The trouble with a glove is that you can't tie it around your head. If you don't believe it, try tying your wife's glove around your head the next time you go into battle—trying to figure out your income tax.

This epidemic of group student raids is naturally worrisome to deans of men and local police. And, of course, it would be bad if they really got out of hand.

But sometime college boys have to erupt and show they are something more than tame receptacles to be stuffed with stale knowledge. Just because they are working for sheepskins is no sign they enjoy the life of sheep. And a little larking now and then helps teach those in academic authority to respect the fact that these young "hopes of tomorrow" have the quality of rebellion as well as submission.

These nocturnal forays into sororities prove that. They are in essence nothing but a mild revolt against the boredom of the commonplace which weighs upon us all.

It might help care-ridden adults if they had some such harmless outlets of resentment against routine as are available on the campus. We tend to take ourselves and our troubles so seriously that our minds get knotted.

It might lighten up the international tension if world leaders and diplomats would quit making faces back and forth and join in a bit of innocent skylarking. Wouldn't it be a pleasant change if the truce negotiators in Korea would indulge in a marathon rocking chair match for a change instead of their present marathon name-calling?

And how much would you pay to see Harry Truman and Dean Acheson meet Joe Stalin and Andrei Vishinsky in a goldfish swallowing contest to a finish in Yankee Stadium?

Anything to get life back into perspective!

Amendment to Constitution

The American Bar Association is proposing an amendment to the Constitution which ought to be adopted as rapidly as possible. The proposed amendment reads:

"A provision of a treaty which conflicts with any provision of this Constitution shall not be of any force or effect. A treaty shall become effective as internal law in the United States only through legislation by Congress which it could enact under its delegated powers in the absence of such treaty."

There is danger that unless such an amendment is passed, the United Nations and not the Congress of the United States will be legislating for the American people. The courts have held that a case involving a principle already declared unconstitutional becomes constitutional in conformity with United Nations treaties. In a word, if a treaty, once ratified, is the law of the land, the United Nations becomes, by indirectness, a legislative body for the United States.

For instance, lynching is abhorrent, but it is an American, not a United Nations, problem. The Soviet delegation should not become the prosecutor against the United States.

Nor should individual murders, even such a case as when a drunkard kills another, become a matter of concern for the United Nations.

The Declaration on Human Rights was adopted in 1948 and it consists of many vague and general declaratory statements, which were at the time accepted because the delegations were made to believe that the declaration had no binding force. An effort is being made to form these generalities, many of which really abridge human rights, into a treaty.

Most countries are not faced by this problem. Before a treaty becomes effective for them, specific laws must be passed by their legislative bodies, which generally require that the provisions conform with the laws of the land.

The report of the American Bar Association includes this extremely pertinent paragraph:

"It is well settled that the treaty-making power extends to all proper subjects of negotiation between our government and foreign nations. (Asakura v. Seattle, 265 U. S. 332, 341). While your committee has heretofore assumed that there are still some things which are essentially within the domestic jurisdiction of the state' (United Nations Charter, Article 2 (7)), it notes the State Department's position that 'there is no longer any real distinction between "domestic" and "foreign" affairs.' (Opening sentence of State Department publication 2972, Foreign Affairs Policy Series 26, released September, 1950, with foreword by President Truman). And it is asserted that any subject whatever that is dealt with in a treaty between two nations becomes, by virtue of that fact, a subject of international concern."

The general assumption in the past has been that a treaty deals with the relationship of a government to citizens of another country. Because of the activities of the United Nations, we are now faced by the problem of a treaty dealing with the relationship of the United States to its own citizens, their persons, their liberties, their health, their social activities.

United Nations efforts to deal with the press definitely violate the First Amendment of our Constitution and it is probable that the covenant on human rights also violates the Tenth and the Fourteenth Amendments. Yet, under our constitutional system, when any treaty between the United Nations and the United States is signed and duly ratified, for whatever reason, it has the value in law equal to a provision in the Constitution.

In fact, it could be argued that as the Charter of the United Nations is a treaty and has been ratified by the Senate, any act of the United Nations, applicable to the United States, can be regarded as American law.

When the Constitution was being written, some of the delegates recognized the probability of our present peril. In Missouri v. Holland (1820), it was established that Congress may pass any legislation because there is a treaty regardless of what may be the constitutional limitations on Congress apart from the treaty.

If the American Bar Association Amendment to the Constitution is adopted, it will not be possible for Congress to enlarge federal jurisdiction, in violation of the Constitution, because of a treaty.

Such an amendment ought to be supported by all citizens who wish to maintain our system of government. Some persons are so fatuous in their adulation of the United Nations that they believe that that body can do no wrong. The record does not encourage confidence in any such proposition.

Garden Clubbers Visit BIS At Lancaster

Members of the Busy Bee Garden Club and a few additional guests enjoyed a tour of the Boys Industrial School, at Lancaster Thursday afternoon.

The ladies enjoyed an eleven o'clock brunch at the Pick-a-Way Arms Tea Room where tables were centered with spring flowers, with clever place cards and favors marking each cover.

Mrs. Ralph N. Agle gave the invocation and after a pleasant hour around the tables a short business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. John Sheeley, who welcomed the guests and read invitations to events being given by the neighboring garden clubs.

Plans were also made for exhibits at the Fayette County Fair and the meeting was adjourned.

In Lancaster, the group was met at B.I.S. by Mrs. Russell Townsley, wife of the overseer of fruit orchards, and a niece of Miss Florence Conner, a guest of the club.

Mrs. Townsley presented them to the horticulturist at the institution, Mr. Harold Boystrell, who conducted a tour of the greenhouses where they viewed rare plants such as the "bottlebrush" from Sea Island, Georgia, the Shrimp Plant and the gerbera. In touring the grounds a wisteria trained over a copper beach tree, also a ginkgo tree, which is a link between ferns and trees, and one of the oldest living trees and the smoke tree, were among the unusual shrubs seen.

The group was next taken to the home of Superintendent and Mrs.

Teen-Age Group Is Entertained At Barn Dance

Twenty-four teen-agers of the Bloomingburg community were entertained at a delightful barn dance given by Eddie McFadden at the farm home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McFadden.

The hay mow was transformed into a dance floor and festoons of scarlet and gray, the school colors, made up the gay decorations with bales of straw affording seats for the weary dancers.

Recordings with music and calls were used for the dances and clever mixer ideas were used in "Jiggs and Maggie," "Dagwood and Blondie" and "Slipper Dances."

Hot popcorn was served throughout the evening and with soft drinks, potato chips and cookies.

Corsage Making Is Demonstrated To Garden Club

Members of the Posy Garden Club assembled at the home of Mrs. Robert Allemang for the May meeting.

The president, Mrs. Homer Wilson, opened the meeting with a short poem "In Gratitude" and roll call was responded to by twelve members naming a native bird.

Discussions on landscaping of the Madison Mills Church yard were held and plans were made to complete the project in the next few days.

Mrs. Lester Haines gave a splendid report on the 30th anniversary celebration of the Fayette Garden Club which she attended and an invitation was read from the Town and Country and Buckeye Garden Clubs to attend an open meeting, June 11.

It was reported that eighteen trees had been planted at homes by members of the club, and the workshop on June 2 at the Dayton Power and Light Company was also announced.

Plans were made for exhibits for the Fayette County Fair and the committee named was Mrs. Glenn Hidy, Mrs. Ralph Hays, Mrs. Walter Butcher and Mrs. Lester Haines.

The program consisted of an interesting talk on "Birds to Invite and Birds to Discourage" and a talk on demonstration on preparing specimen for show making flower arrangement of tulips and also a corsage was by Mrs. Charles Hughes.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Birtus Thornton and Mrs. Maud Huffman. Guests were Mrs. Charles Hughes of the Buckeye Garden Club and Mrs. Maud Huffman.

The June meeting will feature a tea at the home of Mrs. Lester Haines.

Club Members Hold Meeting At Case Home

Mrs. Robert Case entertained twenty-five members of the Conner Farm Woman's Club for the regular May meeting.

Mrs. Lorain Morter, president, called the meeting to order and the opening hymn by the group was "Work For The Night Is Coming," and the club creed was repeated in unison.

Roll call was responded to with a favorite TV program and the usual reports were followed with a report on the home demonstration meeting held at Staunton School recently, given by Mrs. Kenneth Bush.

The club decided that the June and August meetings would open at 2:30 P. M.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Ralph Nisley, who gave a reading, "How We Kept Mother's Day," and introduced Mrs. Martin G. Morris in a reading, "Experiences in Stopping at Motels," taken from the book written by Nancy Vogel, which was most amusing.

A social hour followed and Mrs. Case was assisted in the serving of refreshments by Mrs. Ralph Nisley.

Guests included were Mrs. Annetta Rowe, Mrs. Donald Anderson and Mrs. James Gilmore.

The hymn, "In The Garden" was followed with a story, "An Experiment in Prayer," using five headings: "Adoration," "Thanksgiving," "Forgiveness," "Petition" and "The Lord's Prayer." The group sang "Nearer My God To Thee," and prayer closed the worship period.

Pool and Park Being Readied

Memorial Day
Set for Opening;
All Polished Up

Preparations for opening the swimming pool at Washington Park for what the park directors hope will be the biggest season yet today were approaching the final stages.

The date for the opening this year has been set for May 30—the Decoration Day holiday. It comes on Friday, the day after the Washington C. H. High School commencement.

Final plans for getting the pool and park in shape for the season were laid out about a month ago by the directors after they had made a thorough inspection of the property.

They found there had been some minor winter damage, but it was not serious and plans for making the repairs and giving the pool, the water purification plant, the bath house and the grounds a general overhauling were outlined.

Work of carrying out those plans was started not long after that. Now it is just about completed.

FIRST OF ALL, the pool was given a vigorous scrubbing. While that was being done it was gone over carefully for any cracks or defects; none was found. The pool is in good condition, despite cold and highwater, one of the directors said.

Then it was given a coat of bright blue paint with a spray so its protective coating would get into every possible crevice. The work was done by Paul Dresbaugh and his crew, under the supervision of the Sever-Williams Co.

The bath house and the concession stand will be spick and span with a new coat of paint for the opening, too.

The strip of ground between the pool apron and the fence along Oakland Avenue that has been either mud or dust for the last two years is well on its way now to becoming a greensward where sunbathers can relax between swims. It has been levelled off and the rocks cleaned up and seeded to grass. Now it is beginning to take on the greenish tinge that points to future beauty.

BUT NOT ALL of the thought and effort has centered on the swimming pool. Comprehensive plans for sprucing up the park also have been made and are now being carried out.

Some new playground equipment has been bought—a slide for the kiddies and eight teeter-totter boards. The swings have been repaired and new chains and seats provided for them.

The four outdoor grills scattered around the park under the trees in strategic locations all have been repaired and cleaned and put in shape.

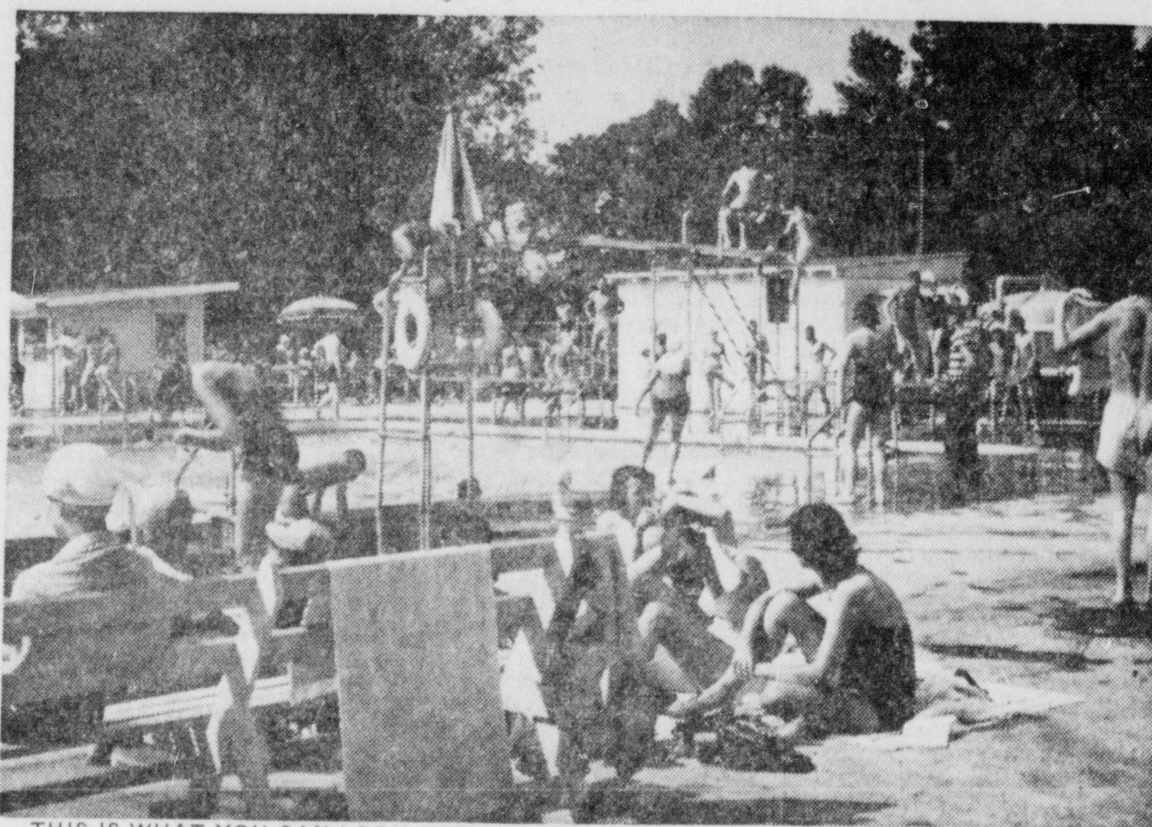

By the time the high grass has been cut and some of the underbrush is cleaned out, the park board expects to have a new mower with which to keep the main part of the park like a well-manicured lawn.

Blacktop between the bath house and the little lake immediately behind it will be a welcome relief to the swimmers who come in their bathing suits for a quick dip in the pool. In the past they have had to pick their way gingerly across the crushed stone strip between the bath house and the parking area.

The park board president, Carroll Halliday, said the directors hoped to have the park so attractive this summer that it will be used daily for picnics and outings.

ALL THIS WORK on the pool and the park was undertaken, Halliday said, in the expectation that it would be used extensively. But, he added, "all that takes money and the only source of revenue is the memberships. If the memberships fall off, it will mean, of course, that some sacrifices will have to be made at the pool and park."

The membership fees are to be the same this year as they were last—$10 plus a tax of $2.30 for the master memberships and $2 plus a tax of 46 cents for the associate memberships. That would make, for illustration, the membership for a man (master) and his wife or a child 18 years of age (Please turn to Page Seven)

THIS IS WHAT YOU CAN LOOK FORWARD TO when you want to cool off during the sweltering days of summer now just ahead. The above picture was taken one evening last summer about sunset when the pool was not packed with swimmers. Just before and not long afterward there were so many in it you could hardly see the water. (Record-Herald photo)

THE TINY LAKE IN WASHINGTON PARK just back of the swimming pool provides a scenic background to the picnic area under the trees. It is all cleaned up and put in shape for summer now. The opening is set for Memorial Day. (Record-Herald photo)

AS THE LAST FEW TRICKLES of water are pumped out of the bottom of the swimming pool, workmen sweep up the debris which had collected in the pool during the winter. Shown above are two workmen, Theodore Brown and Herman Hatfield, with brooms, while Paul Dresbaugh (above) puts the finishing touches on the blue paint along the sides before starting in on painting the bottom. ## Ohio Lawyers Urge Changes For Judges

CLEVELAND, May 17.—The legislative body of the Ohio State Bar Association has endorsed proposals for a state constitutional convention and gubernatorial appointment of judges.

Reports on those and various other proposals were drawn up Thursday in preparation for the 72nd biennial convention of the bar association membership here.

Other proposals include more home rule for municipalities, strengthening authority of the executive branch of state government and re-apportionment of the legislature.

After the council of delegates endorsed the constitutional convention proposal, Charles P. Taft, committee chairman, came out against it. He said:

"The Ohio constitution and the general form of our state government is sound. Piecemeal amendments in the past have left the constitution somewhat untidy, but there is no reason for a convention."

Taft, Republican nominee for governor, held that rearrangement of existing articles and removal of obsolete provisions could be better handled by a legislative commission. He agreed, however, to support the convention idea if it passed.

The judgeship proposal would mean that the governor would appoint the judges of the Ohio Supreme Court, court of appeals and common pleas court, the latter in counties having populations over 25,000 — only Franklin, Cuyahoga, Hamilton, Lucas, Summit, Montgomery, Mahoning and Stark Counties.

Newer TB Drugs Are Questioned

COLUMBUS, May 17.—Dr. William B. Tucker Thursday night told the Ohio Tuberculosis and Health Association "newer TB drugs are not as good in early months of treatment as drugs we've been using for some time."

Tucker, chief of tuberculosis service, Veterans' Administration Hospital, Minneapolis, said recently-discovered drugs cannot offer a complete cure in ordinary TB cases. He said "use of streptomycin accomplishes nothing that cannot be accomplished without it in ordinary cases of tuberculosis."

Fifth Graders at Jeffersonville Biggest Cancer Fund Contributors

THE 39 PUPILS OF THE FIFTH GRADE at Jeffersonville pose proudly for their picture in front of the school with their teacher, Mrs. Howard S. Harper, after contributing $15 to the cancer fund. Their total was the biggest in the schools of the county. (Record-Herald photo)

You can count on the youngsters doing their part in almost any kind of a community undertaking.

When the American Cancer Society launched its campaign in Fayette County to raise money to fight the malady, the proposition was up to the school children—and they came through with their pennies, nickels and dimes to the tune of $159.11.

Not too much in the way of money was expected of them; it was done more to give them the feeling of being a part of the community. But, what those boys and girls did and the way they did it, was one of the pleasantest surprises of the campaign.

Although the children had been told the room that turned in the biggest contribution would get a prize, the teachers have since told Mrs. N. M. Reiff, the county chairman, that their interest was more in helping in the fight against cancer than in winning the prize.

THE SCHOOP APPEAL started April 15 and came to an end May 3 and when Mrs. Reiff and her committee finished checking and double checking, the fifth grade at Jeffersonville headed the list with a total of $15 but the combined third and fourth grades at Madison

Mills was a close second with $14.40.

Ex-Yankees Going Hot For Washington '9'

Shea, Jensen, Wilson
Giving Nats Lift,
Stengel Headache

NEW YORK, May 17 — (P)—The New York Yankees seldom make a poor trade but at the moment it appears they pulled a "whopper" in dispatching Frank Shea, Jackie Jensen and Archie Wilson to Washington for Irv Noren.

Yank manager Casey Stengel was reluctant to part with the trio but claimed he was forced to gamble. Stengel's fears have been realized and if Noren doesn't pick up, the sage of Yankee Stadium will have nightmares in the daytime.

Shea, Jensen and Wilson have given the Senators a brighter outlook on life while Noren has yet to catch fire.

Jensen and Shea teamed up Friday night to lead the Senators to a 2-0 triumph over the league-leading Cleveland Indians. The victory moved Washington to within 1½ games of the Tribe.

Since the trade on May 3 the Senators have won nine games and lost three to rise from the second division to second place. The Yanks have won seven, dropped four.

SHEA, WHO failed to appear in a single game for the Yanks, has won three straight starts during which he allowed only two runs. Jensen, who collected only two hits in 19 trips for New York, has banged out 17 hits in 51 times at bat for Washington, for a .333 gait.

Wilson, who got one hit in two tries for the Yanks has smashed out 12 hits in 38 chances for a .316 mark and driven in nine runs. Noren has collected only 12 hits in 38 attempts for the Yanks a .250 average.

Noren played his best game since joining the Yankees, driving in two runs as the Bombers edged the Tigers, 3-2, in Detroit. Noren socked his first homer in the seventh and singled home the winning run with one out in the ninth.

Allie Reynolds permitted the Tigers seven hits as he pitched his sixth complete game.

Earl Harist and Satchel Paige combined to pitch the St. Louis Browns to a 2-1 two-hit 10-inning victory over Boston in a night game at St. Louis. The Browns collected only four hits off Mickey McDermott and Ellis Kinder, but three of the blows were by Bob Nieman who drove in both runs.

The Brooklyn Dodgers tied the New York Giants for first place in the National League, beating Pittsburgh, 6-4, while the Giants dropped a doubleheader to the upstart Chicago Cubs, 3-2 and 6-4.

In night games, the Boston Braves trampled the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-3, and the Philadelphia Phils edged the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2 in 10 innings.

Billy And Rocky Box To A Draw

NEW YORK, May 17—(P)—Except for a few slashes around the eyes, nobody got hurt.

That's the story of Friday night's Madison Square Garden brawling 10-round draw between Rocky Castellani of Luzerne, Pa., and Irish Billy Graham of New York's east side. Graham came out with two cut eyes and Castellani had a mark over his left eye, but their reputations remained undamaged.

Steubenville May Get Nod For Hearing

COLUMBUS, May 17 — (P)—The state board of the Ohio High School Athletic Association will ponder Steubenville high school's request for a new hearing on a probation order.

The board placed the "Big Red" athletic teams on probation for the 1952-53 season, following a near riot at the March 8 Steubenville-Wellsville basketball game. Wellsville was placed on probation until the end of the next basketball season.

Newt Oliver, Wellsville mentor, reportedly gave Coach Ang Vaccaro of Steubenville a black eye during the district finals game. Steubenville beat Wellsville, and was undefeated until losing to Midletown in the state Class A finals.

Ralph M. Gantz, superintendent of Steubenville schools, told acting commissioner W. J. McConnell he has new "evidence and valuable testimony" on the incident.

McConnell told Gantz to submit it in writing and promised the board would consider it. He added in a letter to Gantz the board would be unable to hear the testimony at its May 23-24 meeting here.

"If, after considering the new testimony, the board feels a new hearing is necessary, we'll be glad to set up a special meeting," McConnell said.

The probations will not make either school ineligible for state championship events, McConnell said.

or under (associate) come to $14.75. There are no restrictions to the associate memberships within the family limits.

The first year master memberships were held by approximately 550 adults and associate memberships by about 700.

Last year, the second for the pool, there were only about 400 master memberships and 550 associate memberships.

Halliday commented that a good many people, who had no intention of using the pool, took out memberships the first year, thinking that once the pool project was put on its feet and then passed it by the next year on the misconception that it could go it alone without trouble.

He then added that some of those so-called sustaining memberships could mean the difference between success or failure for the pool.

"WE ARE RUNNING pretty close now," Halliday said, "and will have to keep the membership up if the people are to have the kind of pool and park they should have."

Notices have been mailed to all of last year's master membership holders that the pool will open May 30 and that they are being counted on to renew.

A membership office is to be set up in the Economy Loan Co. office on North Fayette Street for convenient renewals. But, members of the board are still afraid that most of the memberships will not be taken out until the first warm days are an invitation to go swimming.

The pool is to be opened every day but Sunday at 10 A. M. and be closed at 9:30 P. M. On Sundays the opening will not be until 1 P. M.

The only change in that schedule, Halliday said, would be "very inclement" weather.

With Halliday on the park board are Eli Craig, vice president and treasurer; L. M. Hayes, secretary; Glenn Woodmansee, Don Gibson, Frank Baker and Ed Moser.

Sea Is Tender In Returning Fisherman, 74

EUREKA, Calif., May 17 — (AP) — A commercial fisherman most of his 74 years, Stephen Merisch loved the sea.

The sea is often harsh, but for those who know it, it is often kind.

The sea brought Stephen Merisch home after human hands had failed him. His story, as reconstructed by Humboldt County Coroner Lloyd Wallace:

Fishing alone just south of this Northern California town Thursday, Merisch was seized by a heart attack. Gasping for breath, he was unable to call nearby boats.

So he fired his automatic pistol seven times—until the magazine was empty—in a futile effort to attract attention.

Then the old man collapsed over the engine of his boat. It chugged off, away from the fishing fleet, until it ran out of gas.

Then the sea took over.

Just before dark passersby found the boat, high and dry atop a Humboldt Bay breakwater.

It rested as if it had been put there with loving care. The paint was hardly scratched. The sea had returned Merisch, dead of the heart attack, home for burial.

coincidence, there are 39 pupils in each room.

The children of the winning room took the plea for money seriously, their teacher said. They hung a yardstick on the wall and for every dime that was contributed they pasted a star on it so they could see their progress day by day. It was mostly the idea of the children, the teacher said.

The stars at first were placed one to the inch. Then when the yardstick was filled another star was added to each inch for every dime total turned in. Soon one side of the yardstick was covered with stars; so it was turned over and the star record started on the other side. When the end of the campaign came both sides of the yardstick were covered and a few stars were left over as the amount reached $15.

prize (the customary reward) for having the biggest delegation at the April PTA meeting. And that created a problem.

Some wondered whether it all should go into the cancer fund or whether half of it should be contributed and spend the other dollar on a treat for the room. It was left to the pupils and was still undecided when they went out for recess.

After recess, two spokesmen for the class came to the teacher and said "we decided at a meeting on the playground that cancer was more important than a party so we want to give all of our $2 to the fund."

The Monday morning of the second week, one of the boys laid down a dollar for the Cancer Fund without further comment. At noon, he was missing from the lunch table. The teacher noticing his absence, hunted him up and asked if he was all right. He assured her that he was, but just wasn't hungry. A little applied psychology revealed that he had given his week's lunch money. For the rest of the week, he was the teacher's lunch-guest... while a closer watch was kept for some similar situation.

THOSE LITTLE incidents, which probably had parallels all over the county, were cited to illustrate the sincerity of the children in doing their part in meeting a community obligation.

And, through those sacrifices, the dangers of cancer and the need for combating it were indelibly impressed on the young minds.

Mrs. Reiff admitted that she now has a problem to solve too—just what kind of a prize to give the biggest and next biggest contributors. She wants it to be something the youngsters will remember, something that will be suitable recognition for what they have done.

Clean-up Week Brings Results

Hopes of Sponsor
Are Far Exceeded

"Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Week" in Washington C. H. disclosed more sprucing up around the city than the Young Business Men's group, sponsor of the event, had hoped for.

This became apparent as the end of the ballyhoo campaign approached and the questionnaires returned from the homes by school pupils were checked and tabulated.

The reports from the parents returned to four of the five city elementary schools showed that this has been a busy week both inside and outside the homes.

From the four schools, the YBM has received 340 questionnaires, that leaves an estimated 75 to 100 yet to be checked and tabulated from the Sunnyside district before the full scope of the campaign will be known.

The returned questionnaires showed that both front and back yards had been cleaned up and that repairs of all kinds had been made all over the homes. One of the biggest surprises to the YBM was the amount of painting that had been done this spring.

Here is the summary of the reports:

In the clean-up were reported: Front yards 278, back yards 315, alleys 111, vacant lots 52, garages 119, porches 195, furnaces 61, basements 100, walls 283, closets 298 and attics 57.

In the paint-up were: Houses 51, garages 30, rooms 298, floors 146, woodwork 93, porches 86, fences 39, out buildings 27, screens 95 and basements 19.

Covered by the fix-up were: Buildings (repaired) 50, buildings (modernized) 40, porches 64, steps 58, roofs 61, water faucet leaks 137, screens 142, fences 53, electrical appliances 61, garbage & trash receptacles 112, shrubbery trimmed 87, trees trimmed 83, dead trees & stumps removed 79.

Miscellaneous: Flower beds planted 246, vegetable gardens planted 171, grass plots sowed 131, shrubbery planted 56, trees planted 66.

The school children had been given the comprehensive questionnaires to take home last week. They were to be filled out by the parents and returned.

Certificates of awards are to be presented to those who cooperated in the campaign. They read:

"In sincere appreciation of meritorious and unselfish service as a volunteer worker in the Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up program.

"With this great contribution of time and effort our community has made progress in cleanliness, health, safety and beauty."

Jolly Homemakers To Revise By-Laws

A committee of four girls, Mary Ann Creamer, Patty Stoddard, Sara Sue Davidson and Martha Jane Walls, was named by Sue McDonald, the president of the Jeff Jolly Homemakers, to draft a new set of by-laws for their 4-H club and present them at the next meeting.

The decision to revamp the by-laws was made when the club met Friday after school in the Jeffersonville High School auditorium. The roll call was answered by 12 girls.

Karma Kay Knox and Beverly Baughn, junior advisors of the Clover Kids club, were invited by the club advisor, Mrs. Harvey Walls, to come to the meeting of the Jolly Homemakers and tell about Camp Clifton, the kind of clothes to take and the activities that are a part of camp life.

The Jolly Homemakers are planning a 100 percent camp attendance for this will be their first experience of that kind.

During the session five girls who have formed a clarinet ensemble practiced some of their pieces as entertainment for the others. In the ensemble are Betty Sears, Sara Sue Davidson, Martha Jane Walls, Linda Allen and Nancy Allen. The ensemble is under the direction of Edwin Eby, the school music director.

Mrs. Ancil Creamer, chairman of the 4-H Junior Garden Club, came to the meeting to check up on the flower seeds that had been given them for their garden projects. All but four of the girls said they had planted their seeds and that the plants already were coming up.

Mrs. Creamer reminded the girls that they would have to get them planted soon, because a display of three varieties at the Fair is a part of their program.

The two advisors, Mrs. Walls and Mrs. Ralph Davidson, told the girls to be ready to give demonstrations of their projects if called on at the next meeting which is scheduled for the American Legion Hall at 1:30 P. M. May 23.
